EDITOR'S NOTES

G'Day Everyone,

Welcome to the February edition of the '55 '56 '57' Chev Club Magazine.

2017 is shaping up to be a big year! The 60th Anniversary of the '57 Chev, our Kiama Weekend away in April, the Hot Rod & Custom Show at Rose Hill in May, Motor Ex at Homebush in July, Camden Car Show in October, and I am sure there will be many other events in between.

Well it has been a long wait, but we are finally there with the CVS Scheme (Modified Rego). This is a fantastic opportunity to see more and more older cars on the road again. But, like everything, there are rules to be abided by, so stick to the guidelines so it's not a short lived experience for us all! For those interested, on pages 18 & 19 I have listed the CVS application guide which also contains links to the relevant paperwork. More to be discussed at the next meeting.

I hope you enjoy this months mag. We have a little of everything in here - Decembers Christmas Dinner, a nice story on club member Chris Coomas and his success at Summernats 30, All American Day at Castle Hill, and a few other nic nacs.

The next club meeting is on Tuesday, February 14 at 7pm, so now is the time to disappoint your valentine and let John know that you will be there for the BBQ and festivities!

Happy cruising,

Ben Marks

Club Christmas Party - 10th December 2016.

Club Xmas Party

The Chevy God delivered what John had asked for, a great day followed by a warm night. We arrived in the Chev to see a few club member's cars as well, and the Restaurant was full. Most of the members were there already there and included the Hatchers, Vitaccos, the Fenatos, the Wrights, the Campbells, the Zammits, the Ungaros, the Riches, the Crisafullis, the Lowgers, Frank Borg and both D'Alfonso families. On our table, there were the Mays, Frank Mamone and the Tants.

The youngest member in the Fenato clan was being well looked after by the ladies as she was being fed and passed around for cuddles. It was good to see Eric Jones and his wife Stacey who are expecting their second child in February. Our club is expanding in members by the day!

A commendation should go to the Marks, Gauci and Vittacco family kids as they all were all as quiet as mice and very well behaved, unlike all of the rest of us that came along with the adults laughing, joking and enjoying the company.

The food kept coming all night; we had 9 courses in all, Enzos Cucina was a great venue, the quality and quantity of food surpassed my expectation. The drinks all arrived and we were treated to a never-ending arrival of courses.

A great time was had by all and a big thank you goes to the club for shouting all members to a terrific meal. Flora and I will certainly be back at another time to enjoy the food.

I have taken some photos of the night as well.

Have a safe Xmas and new year, will see you next year.

Till next time

CHRIS COOMAS CLEAN'S UP AT SUMMERNATS 30

I have been to all 30 Summernats, mainly as a spectator, however I have always owned old Holden's. have always loved 55, 56, 57 Chevys and attended the first classic Chev Nationals in Canberra in 1987.

In 1997 I purchased an original low mileage 6 cylinder Australian 57 Chevy. The six only lasted a very short period, the car was modified and engineered with every piece of running gear changed ... took it too far and the car was no longer street practical.

In 2001 I sold the 57 Chevy to fund my wedding and would often tell my wife that one day my goal is to buy another.

In 2011 I visited the all American day at Castle Hill and was listening to two guys talking about the downturn in the US and how much cheaper it was to import a car. That night I went home and searched on line for a 57, within a couple of days I found the 55 and imported it, with full intentions of modifying and installing a blower...

When the 55 arrived I opened the boot only to find all the original paper work, sales receipts, dealers card, service records, original registration. The 265 is still original to the car. At this stage I decided that it would be an absolute shame to modify this survivor.

Cheers,

Chris

BE WARNED!!

Crims using anti-theft devices to locate classic cars

In a classic case of unintended consequences, GPS tracking devices that are marketed as security devices are being used by thieves to locate prized cars which can be monitored for activity and stolen at leisure. This tactic has arisen in the UK, where criminals had originally fashioned home-made trackers which were planted on target vehicles at car shows. Insurance company Need to Insure tells of a home-made tracking device fitted to a Ford Escort RS Cosworth at this year's Ford Fair event at Silverstone.

Dr Ken German, the Association of Auto Theft Investigators' communications director says: "Crooks can easily make these devices, and attach them to your car in a hard-to-reach place where you don't regularly check." UK Police are warning classic owners to be vigilant at car shows, as new reports suggest home-made tracking devices used to find your cars can be manufactured by criminals for less than $12. The parts, as well as instructions on how to make them, can be found for free and easily on the internet.

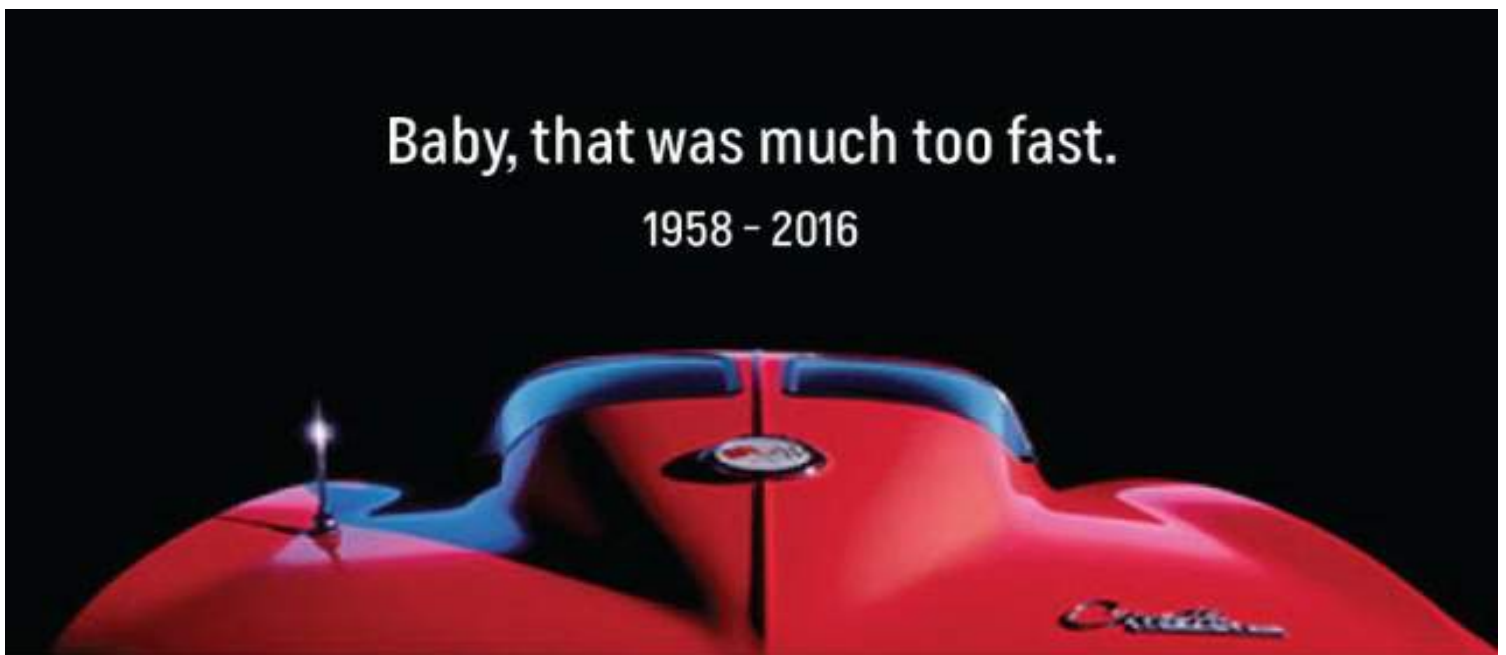

It doesn't require a huge degree of sophistication to build one either, the trackers typically consisting of a 9v battery, a board and a sim card from a mobile phone. Not only do these devices allow villains to see where the car is, but they can also monitor when it hasn't been moved for a while. An even easier method is to buy one of the many non-subscription systems from eBay vendors. Bottom line? Insure yourself to the hilt, take steps to physically secure your vehicle as effectively as possible and be reassured that while there are some smart crooks out there, there aren't many.

A mechanic was removing a cylinder head from the motor of a Harley motorcycle when he spotted a well-known heart surgeon in his shop.

The surgeon was there waiting for the service manager to come take a look at his bike when the mechanic shouted across the garage, "Hey, Doc, can I ask you a question?"

The surgeon, a bit surprised, walked over to where the mechanic was working on the motorcycle. The mechanic straightened up, wiped his hands on a rag. "So Doc, look at this engine. I open its heart, take the valves out, repair any damage, and then put them back in, and when I finish, it works just like new. So how come I get such a small salary and you get the really big bucks, when you and I are doing basically the same work?"

The surgeon paused, smiled, leaned over, and whispered to the mechanic...

"Try doing it with the engine running"

As a trucker stops for a red light, a blonde catches up. She jumps out of her car, runs up to his truck, and knocks on the door.

The trucker lowers the window, and she says, "Hi, my name is Heather and you are losing some of your load."

The trucker ignores her and proceeds down the street. When the truck stops for another red light, the girl catches up again. She jumps out of her car, runs up and knocks on the window.

Again, the trucker lowers the window. As if they've never spoken, the blonde says brightly, "Hi my name is Heather, and you are losing some of your load!"

Shaking his head, the trucker ignores her again and continues down the street.

At the third red light, the same thing happens again. All out of breath, the blonde gets out of her car, runs up, knocks on the truck window.

The trucker lowers the window. Again she says, "Hi, my name is Heather, and you are losing some of your load!"

When the light turns green the trucker revs up and races to the next light. When he stops this time, he hurriedly gets out of the truck, and runs back to the blonde. He knocks on her window, and as she lowers it, he says...

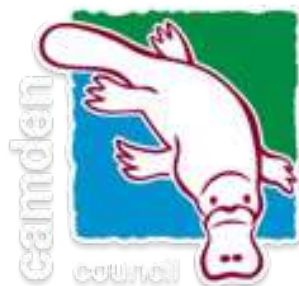

"Hi, my name is Kevin, it's winter in Minnesota and I'm driving the SALT TRUCK!"
